SUMMARY

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, as amended, is a comprehensive civil rights law enacted to prohibit discrimination and to ensure equal opportunities for individuals with disabilities in employment, state and local government services, public accommodations, commercial facilities, and transportation. The initial City of Lakeland's (City) 2019 Self-Evaluation and Transition Plan Summary report was prepared by Disability Access Consultants (DAC), in accordance with Title II of the ADA. Title II of the ADA requires that state and local government entities conduct a self-evaluation of the accessibility of their facilities, programs, services, policies, and procedures and to create a plan to remove barriers to access.

This FY 2023 annual ADA and Accessibility report provides information about the progress of the City of Lakeland's Annual Transition and Implementation Plan Report process. As the City continues to grow in population and to expand its' facilities, programs and services, attention will continue to be focused on the accessibility of those programs and services and on new construction, renovations, alterations, and redevelopment activities. This annual report accomplishes the following:

1. Addresses the progress of the City as it relates to ADA/Accessibility compliance
2. Addresses physical obstacles that limit the accessibility of facilities, programs, and services to individuals with disabilities
3. Documents the methods used to remove barriers to accessibility
4. Provides a proposed schedule for implementing accessibility modifications and improvements to facilities, programs, and services, as applicable

The City's goals for ADA Transition and Implementation planning include:

1. Improve accessibility to the maximum extent feasible for residents and visitors
2. Encourage participation and input regarding City activities and projects from individuals who experience disabilities and those who work and advocate on behalf of persons with disabilities
3. Continue to educate City staff and the public on the requirements of the ADA and benefits of accessibility
4. Use the City's self-evaluation data to diminish existing barriers to inclusion
5. Provide a working Implementation Plan to remove barriers as soon as practical
6. Provide a realistic schedule with estimated cost projections for the removal of barriers.
7. Identify funding sources and develop budgets for barrier removal efforts to be as effective, efficient, and proactive as possible.

SECTION I. The CITY OF LAKELAND and the ADA

LEGISLATIVE MANDATE

ADA TITLE II: STATE & LOCAL GOVERNMENT PROGRAMS, SERVICES AND FACILITIES

Requires that state and local government programs, services, and facilities be accessible to individuals with disabilities.

The ADA requires the City to provide equal opportunities to all individuals, regardless of ability. This includes providing modifications and accommodations to ensure individuals with disabilities can enjoy City programs, services, and facilities.

Title II of the ADA applies to state and local government operations and has four main components:

1. Prohibits discrimination based on a person's disability by public entities such as state and local governments and agencies
2. Requires public entities to make their programs, services, and activities accessible to individuals with disabilities.
3. Outlines requirements for self-evaluation and transition planning, making reasonable accommodations or modifications to policies, practices, and procedures: where and when necessary to avoid discrimination; identifying architectural barriers and removal plan, and providing effective communication for individuals with hearing, vision, and speech disabilities.
4. Regulations are enforced by the United States Department of Justice (DOJ).

Title II stipulates that the City cannot, either directly or through contractual arrangements, engage in any of the following:

1. Deny individuals with disabilities the opportunity to participate as members of advisory boards and commissions.
2. Deny individuals with disabilities the opportunity to participate in programs or services that are offered to others, even if the City offers permissibly equivalent but separate or different activities for individuals with disabilities.
3. Deny or exclude individuals with disabilities the option or ability to participate in programs or services by intentionally selecting facilities that have the effect of excluding or discriminating against individuals with disabilities.

Rights and Responsibilities under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the ADA

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the ADA protect qualified individuals with disabilities from discrimination based on a disability in the provision of programs, services, and benefits. Covered entities must not, based on a disability:

1. Exclude a person with a disability from a program or activity
2. Deny a person with a disability the benefits of a program or activity
3. Provide a benefit or service to a person with a disability that is less effective as what is provided to others
4. Provide different or separate benefits or services to a person with a disability unless necessary to provide benefits or services that are as effective as what is provided to others
5. Apply eligibility criteria that tends to screen out persons with disabilities unless necessary for the provision of the program, service, or benefit

Covered entities must:

1. Provide programs and services in the most integrated setting appropriate to the needs of the qualified individual with a disability
2. Ensure that programs, services, and facilities are accessible
3. Make reasonable modifications in their policies, practices, and procedures to avoid discrimination Based on a disability unless it would result in a fundamental alteration of the program
4. Provide auxiliary aids to persons with disabilities, at no additional cost, where necessary to afford an equal opportunity to participate in or benefit from a program or activity
5. Designate a responsible employee to coordinate compliance efforts regarding the ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973
6. Adopt grievance procedures to handle complaints of alleged disability discrimination
7. Provide notice that indicates:
 - a. The covered entity does not discriminate based on disability.
 - b. How to contact the employee who coordinates the covered entity's compliance efforts.
 - c. Steps to utilizing grievance procedures.

Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973

Section 508 requires that electronic and digital information technology used, maintained, developed, or procured by the federal government and/or by entities receiving federal funding, allows persons with disabilities comparable access to the information and technology. This includes comparable access by persons with disabilities who use assistive technology to read and navigate electronic or digital materials.

The use of an ADA Transition Plan and an accompanying Implementation Plan is crucial to the work involved in developing an accessible and inclusive community. Pursuant to the previous information, the City of Lakeland has taken the following steps:

1. Identified the City's ADA Specialist (a/k/a ADA Coordinator) as the staff member responsible for coordinating the development of the ADA Transition and Implementation Plan(s).
2. Created an online tool known as takeACTION, to receive ADA/Accessibility suggestions or concerns from the public.
3. Implemented the use of the 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design and related design standards to achieve the maximum level of accessibility feasible.
4. Conducted outreach to engage the community in ADA/Accessibility enhancement activities.
5. Contracted to have City facilities and programs evaluated for accessibility.
6. Created a proposed schedule to remove barriers to accessibility.
7. Provided a summary report of self-evaluation assessments via the City's website and by request.

ADA KEY DEFINITIONS

The following is a summary of definitions found in the ADA and implementing regulations. Please refer to the Americans with Disabilities Act for the full text of definitions and explanations.

DISABILITY

The term disability means, with respect to an individual:

1. A physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities.
2. A record of such an impairment, or
3. Being regarded as having such an impairment.

QUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL WITH A DISABILITY

A qualified individual with a disability means an individual with a disability who, with or without reasonable modification to rules, policies, or practices, by virtue of removing architectural, communication or transportation barriers or the provision of accommodations such as auxiliary aids and services, meets the essential eligibility requirements for the receipt of services or the participation in programs or activities provided by the City.

DISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF DISABILITY

Discrimination based on a disability means to:

1. Limit, segregate, or classify an individual in a way that may adversely affect opportunities or status because of the individual's disability.
2. Limit, segregate, or classify a participant in a program or activity offered to the public in a way that may adversely affect opportunities or status because of the participant's disability.
3. Participate in a contract that could subject a qualified individual with a disability to discrimination.
4. Use standards, criteria, or methods of administration that have the effect of discriminating based on a disability.
5. Deny equal benefits because of a disability.
6. Fail to make reasonable requested accommodations based on physical or mental limitations of an otherwise qualified individual unless it can be shown that the accommodation(s) would impose an undue burden for City operations.
7. Use selection criteria that excludes otherwise qualified individuals with disabilities from participating in the programs or activities offered to the public.
8. Fail to use tests, including eligibility tests, in a manner that ensures the test results accurately reflect the qualified applicant's skills or aptitude to participate in a program or activity.

PHYSICAL OR MENTAL IMPAIRMENTS

Physical or mental impairments may include, but are not limited to, vision, speech and hearing impairments, emotional and mental illness, seizure disorders, cognitive disabilities, orthopedic and neuromotor disabilities, learning disabilities, diabetes, heart disease, nervous conditions, cancer, asthma, Hepatitis B, HIV condition and drug addiction, if the individual has successfully completed or is participating in a rehabilitation program and no longer uses illegal drugs.

MAJOR LIFE ACTIVITIES

Major life activities are functions such as walking, seeing, hearing, speaking, breathing, learning, performing manual tasks or caring for oneself. In determining whether a physical or mental impairment substantially limits the condition, manner, or duration under which an individual can perform a major life activity in comparison to other people, the following factors shall be considered:

1. The nature and severity of the impairment.
2. The duration or expected duration of the impairment.
3. The permanent or long-term impact (or expected impact) resulting from the impairment.

HAVING A RECORD OF IMPAIRMENT

An individual has a record of impairment if there is a history of the impairment that substantially limits major life activities, or has been diagnosed, correctly or incorrectly, as having such an impairment.

REGARDED AS HAVING A DISABILITY

An individual is regarded as having a disability if they are treated or perceived as having an impairment that substantially limits major life activities, even when no such impairment exists.

REASONABLE PROGRAM MODIFICATIONS

If an individual's disability prevents them from having equivalent access to programs or services, determine whether reasonable program modifications would enable the individual to have equivalent access to programs and services and respond accordingly. A reasonable program modification is any change to a program or service or change to customary practices that enables an individual with a disability to enjoy equivalent program opportunities.

Modification includes making existing facilities and equipment used by individuals readily accessible to, and usable by, individuals with disabilities.

Modification applies to:

1. All decision-making activities, including use of applications or registration processes
2. All services provided in connection with a program or service
3. Reported disabilities only

Modification is not required if it:

1. Changes (fundamentally alters) the essential nature of a program or service
2. Creates a hazardous situation
3. Poses an undue burden on the City

Providing Modifications includes, but is not limited to, making modifications or adjustments:

1. To a registration or application process to enable an individual with a disability to be considered for the program or service.
2. To the program or service environment in which the activity is performed, so that an individual with a disability can have equivalent access to the program or service.

UNDUE BURDEN

Undue burden means significant difficulty or expense would be incurred in providing a requested accommodation or modification. Undue burden includes, but is not limited to, financial or administrative difficulty. This refers to any accommodation or modification that would be unduly costly, extensive, substantial, or disruptive or that would fundamentally alter the nature of City operations. Whether a particular accommodation or modification will impose an undue burden on the City is determined on a case-by-case basis. The determination that a particular accommodation or modification is an undue burden must be made by executive City Management and include documentation of that decision-making process. The City can also attempt to identify another approach that would not pose such a burden. If cost causes the undue burden, the City must consider all financial resources available City-wide and whether funding for the accommodation or modification is available from an outside source. If no such funding is available, the City must give the individual with a disability the opportunity to provide the accommodation or modification themselves or to pay for that portion of the accommodation or modification that constitutes an undue burden for the City and is not otherwise required by law.

AUXILIARY AIDS AND SERVICES

The term auxiliary aids and services includes but is not limited to:

1. Qualified interpreters or other effective methods of making orally delivered materials available to individuals with hearing impairments
2. Qualified readers, taped texts, or other effective methods of making visually delivered materials available to individuals with visual impairments
3. Acquisition or modification of equipment or devices and other similar services and actions

Accessibility Liaisons will also share information provided by the ADA Specialist, with appropriate staff in their department.

ROLE OF THE LAKELAND ALLIANCE FOR ACCESSIBILITY

The City's Lakeland Alliance for Accessibility (the Alliance) includes individuals with disabilities and representatives from agencies serving individuals with disabilities. This includes Lighthouse for the Blind and Low Vision, the Hearing Loss Association of Lakeland, Veteran's Association, Senior Connection Center, Peace River Center, and other agencies, as well as citizens with disabilities.

The purpose of the Alliance is to provide input to the City about accessibility as it pertains to facilities, programs, services, and events leased, owned, operated, or permitted by the City. The Alliance advocates on behalf of individuals with disabilities and assists the City by bringing attention to unforeseen barriers involving inclusion.

The primary areas the Alliance addresses are:

Awareness - The Alliance members share information about the obstacles they face, or on behalf of the individuals for which they provide advocacy. This includes input regarding City programs, services and operations, housing programs with City involvement, transportation and parking services and entertainment, leisure, and fitness activities.

Community Involvement and Public Outreach - A key element of the ADA transition planning and implementation process is participation and input by the public. Participation of individuals with disabilities assists the City with identifying key issues that may not be readily apparent to City staff. The experiences and perspectives of individuals with disabilities who have faced barriers to program or facility access are essential to the ADA/Accessibility improvement activities undertaken by the City.

Alliance members have assisted with outreach activities in a variety of ways. They have made the ADA Specialist aware of local events that provide the opportunity to staff a table to provide information and resources, including print material and website resources, regarding the ADA/Accessibility. They have also invited the ADA Specialist to speak before their organizations and clients, about the activities the City is involved in to enhance accessibility.

Alliance members have attended City events such as the issuance of the annual ADA Proclamation. They have participated in meetings where the City provides information about pending projects. Alliance members have also distributed the ADA Specialist's contact information to their agencies and clients, to assist in the City's efforts to assure that the public knows who to contact with any concerns related to accessibility.

The Alliance members have also helped City staff develop sensitivity to the needs of individuals with disabilities. This includes input about customer service interactions with individuals with disabilities such as speaking directly to a person who is Deaf rather than to their interpreter and pulling up a chair to discuss things at eye-level with an individual who uses a wheelchair. It also includes making City staff more aware of sensory stressors for individuals with Autism and related disabilities causing sensory sensitivity.

SECTION II. ADA Self-Evaluation & Transition Planning Process

ADA ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Barriers faced by individuals with disabilities that affect opportunities regarding employment, transportation, public accommodations, public services, and telecommunications have caused significant economic and social costs on American society. These barriers have undermined efforts by people with disabilities to receive an education, become employed, and to be equally contributing members of society. By breaking down these barriers, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and related accessibility legislation enables society to benefit from the skills, talents, creativity and purchasing power of individuals with disabilities. This leads to a more enriched society due to the inclusion of all members of the public.

The ADA provides civil rights protections to individuals with disabilities like those provided to individuals based on race, color, sex, national origin, age, and religion. It guarantees equal opportunity for individuals with disabilities in public accommodations, employment, transportation, state and local government services and telecommunications. To determine existing barriers, the City contracted with Disability Access Consultants (DAC) to assess City programs, services, and facilities.

The programs, services and facilities assessments are divided into three broad categories:

- 1. Exterior Accessibility: Individuals with disabilities should be able to approach and enter a building as freely as anyone else. For example, at least one accessible route must be provided within the boundary of the site connecting elements such as accessible parking, sidewalks and/or public transportation stops to an accessible building entrance.

- 2. Interior Accessibility: The interior accessible route connects the accessible entrance with the program and service areas in the facility. Typically, interior accessible routes are made up of hallways, corridors, interior rooms, and spaces. The accessible route is essential for people who have difficulty walking or use wheelchairs or other mobility aids to access the service and program areas.

Additionally, individuals with low vision may walk along any route to access the program and service areas, not just the accessible routes. As such, routes open to or leading to the service area, such as hallways, corridors, and service and program spaces, must be free of objects or obstacles that cannot be detected by a person who is blind or visually impaired.

- 3. Program Accessibility: The City's services and programs, when viewed in their entirety, must be readily accessible to and usable by individuals with disabilities.

The City of Lakeland is committed to improving access to all applicable City operations, programs, activities, events, facilities, parks, buildings, and public rights-of-way. The ADA Transition and Implementation Plan is the roadmap for understanding the deficiencies and corrective actions required to ensure that facilities and public services comply with the applicable provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

PRIORITIZING ADA COMPLIANCE

The City of Lakeland has limited funds and cannot immediately make all programs, services, buildings and Parks and Recreation facilities fully accessible. The City is prioritizing the removal of barriers to accessibility in a few ways. The following criteria is recommended for state and local governments to use as the basis for prioritizing removal of identified barriers:

- 1. Priority One. Those facilities which house essential services related to health and safety and programs that are unique to a specific location. Priority One includes those locations that have a high volume of use by individuals considered vulnerable, such as persons with disabilities, children, and those who are elderly.
- 2. Priority Two. Facilities that receive a high level of public use.
- 3. Priority Three. Geographic distribution - facilities located in various areas of the City of Lakeland that provide an equitable distribution of program access for all residents.

The City's criteria listed below is also used to assist in the determination of specific program-based barrier removal actions within a building or facility:

- 1. Priority One. The highest priority is placed on those barrier removal items that provide accessibility at the main entrance of a facility or improve a path of travel to the portion of the facility where program activities take place (e.g., parking, walkways, ramps, stairs, doors, corridors, etc.).

2. Priority Two. A second level priority is placed on those barrier removal items that improve or enhance access to program use areas (e.g., transaction counters, conference rooms, public offices, restrooms, etc.).
3. Priority Three. A third level priority is placed on those barrier removal items that improve access to amenities serving program areas (e.g., drinking fountains, telephones, site furnishings, vending machines, etc.).

OUTCOME OF THE ADA TRANSITION AND IMPLEMENTATION PLANNING PROCESS

The Mayor, City Management, City Commissioners, along with the City's staff, demonstrate their commitment to inclusion in public programs, services, and facilities as highlighted in this annual report. The City is dedicated to transparency in government and to sustaining a high quality of life for City residents and visitors. The use of a work-order based system, which incorporates ADA/Accessibility components to complete improvements, coupled with increased community outreach and involvement, will help to ensure that the City continues to focus on its Vision of being a "vibrant, innovative, culturally-inclusive, world-class community".

Section III. ADA Implementation Planning

REVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND FUNDING SOURCES FOR IMPROVEMENTS

The City will continue to make reasonable efforts to improve the accessibility of programs, services, and facilities. City Management will determine annually the appropriate and available level of funding to allocate each year toward this goal.

There will be times when it is not feasible, whether technically, structurally, administratively, or financially to provide full compliance to a program or facility. Therefore, the City will choose areas with high priority before moving on to lower priorities unless a specific request is made by the public.

The City will follow the concept of program access under Title II of the ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. Program access does not necessarily require a public entity to make all existing facilities accessible and usable by individual with disabilities so long as program offerings include accessibility (as a whole).

Ongoing improvements to Accessibility are also addressed in applicable Capital Improvement Projects (CIP). The following areas are under CIP:

- Transportation
- Public Improvement
- Downtown Community Redevelopment Area (CRA)
- Parks, Recreation and Cultural Arts
- Midtown CRA
- Dixieland CRA
- Stormwater
- Parking

- RP Funding Center
- Airport
- Water
- Wastewater
- Lakeland Electric

The City of Lakeland, Florida, a municipal corporation, values diversity and welcomes input from all interested parties, regardless of cultural identity, background, or income level. ADA/504 Statement:

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Section 504), the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) and related federal and state laws and regulations forbid discrimination against those who have disabilities. Furthermore, these laws require federal aid recipients and other government entities to take affirmative steps to reasonably accommodate the disabled and ensure that their needs are equitably represented in transportation programs, services, and activities.

The City of Lakeland will make every effort to ensure that its advisory committees, public involvement activities, and all other programs, services and activities include representation by the disabled community and disability service groups.

Furthermore, the City will provide reasonable accommodation (free of charge) to disabled individuals who wish to participate in public involvement events or who require special assistance to access facilities, programs, services, or activities. To plan for efficient, effective, safe, equitable and reliable transportation systems, the City of Lakeland must have the input from the public. The City holds numerous transportation meetings, workshops, and other events designed to gather public input on project planning and construction. Further, the City attends and participates in other community events to promote its services to the public.

Finally, the City is consistently seeking ways of measuring the effectiveness of its public involvement. Persons wishing to request special presentations by the City of Lakeland, volunteer in any of its activities or offer suggestions for improvement of City public involvement may contact:

Data Collection:

Federal Highway Administration regulations require federal-aid recipients to collect racial, ethnic, and other similar demographic data on beneficiaries of or those affected by transportation programs, services, and activities. The City of Lakeland accomplishes this through census data, American Community Survey reports, Environmental Screening Tools (EST), drive and ridership surveys, its Community Development department, and other methods. From time to time, the City may find it necessary to request voluntary identification of certain racial, ethnic, or other data from those who participate in its public involvement events. This information assists the City with improving its targeted outreach and measures of effectiveness. Self-identification of personal data to the City will always be voluntary and anonymous. Moreover, the City will not release or otherwise use this data in any manner inconsistent with the federal regulations.

Assurances:

Every three (3) years, or commensurate with a change in City of Lakeland executive leadership, the City must certify to FHWA and FDOT that its programs, services, and activities are being conducted in a nondiscriminatory manner. These certifications are termed “assurances” and serve two important purposes. First, they document the City’s commitment to nondiscrimination and equitable service to its community. Second, they serve as a legally enforceable agreement by which the City of Lakeland may be held liable for breach. The public may view the annual assurance on the City of Lakeland’s website or by visiting the City of
